Figures for Quebec and the Atlantic Provinces will be reviewed in our May issue. Any updatings should be submitted by March 15th.

HEY! LOOK! ANOTHER LIFE LIST DEPARTMENT!

John Miles, of New Hamburg, Ont., a veteran birder well known to many of our readers, has compiled a record of species observed on Christmas Bird Counts. His total is 150 species.

As with all Canadian winter-related birding statistics, one has to adjust the product to fit the location. (See Pages 6,7 & 8 of our November '87 issue.) For example, a long-time C.B.C. participant in Victoria, B.C., where one-day counts of 145 can be expected, might well exceed this total of 150.

But, to us, also an Ontario veteran, that figure sounds pretty good.

Anyone care to respond?
