LISTERS' CORNER

Welcome to the latest edition of Listers' Corner, especially to newcomers John Toochn (BC), Jude Larocque (NB) and Alfred Adamo, Bruce Brydon, Paul Mackenzie, Sheldon McGregor, Dick Tafel, Fred Urie and William Wilson, all from Ontario. After three- and five-year breaks Alan Wormington and Rolph Davis, respectively, are submitting their lists again. The following table lists significant milestones that were achieved in 2000. Although there was nothing wrong with a Michigan Kirtland's Warbler for my 600th ABA bird, I kind of wish that my Burlington, ON Henslow's Sparrow (2 days later) was my milestone.

Victoria artist Laurie Savard drew the cover illustration of a Northern Hawk Owl. If anybody is interested in seeing more of Laurie's work, contact her at 1215 Pembroke St., Victoria, BC, V8T 1J6, (250) 386-8067. My habit of living at various places throughout Canada continues so my current address is 451 Arrowhead Park Road, Huntsville, ON, P1H 2J4. However, I have a permanent snail-mail address at 119 Holland Road, Saskatoon, SK, S7H 4Z5 and a permanent e-mail account at: burkekorol@yahoo.com.

***** LIFE LISTS *******

Again, I will be using North American totals from the Tony White Birder's Newsletter, which is current up to November 2000. Clements' 5th edition is the authority used for world species and families.

To be published a birder needed a life list of 40% of the provincial/territorial total in PEI, Newfoundland and the territories and 50% of the provincial total in the other provinces. Thresholds are 350 for Canada, 500 for the ABA area and 1000 for ATPAT and world life lists. Thresholds are shown after an area's total list. Life lists are the most recent entries that I received up to the end of 2000. An asterisk indicates that I did not receive that person's list for 2000. Figures in parentheses following a birder's name are increases reported since last year. With 10 'new' world bird families now recognized by Clements, I did not calculate increases reported in this category.

This year's report includes threshold-breaking lists from 117 birders, which is up eight from last year and includes 12 people that I hadn't heard from by the time this issue went to the printer. Eighty-seven birders have made the Canadian threshold, which is up four from last year. In 2000, the number of ABA listers increased by five (now at 71) and the number of world listers increased by four (now at 43). The 41 ATPAT lists reported here is two more than last year. With the addition of 10 lists, Ontario was again the province with the most birders (73) making its threshold.

LIFE LISTS

Except for the addition of John Toochn's life list, there was little change to the highest totals reported from British Columbia. It appears that all of Ontario's top listers got out to see the Anhinga. As they have for the past six years, the top provincial / territorial birders in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Quebec and Yukon Territory remained the same. Since 1995, the top Alberta lister has changed four times. This year the honour belongs to Joan McDonald, who is at 340. The top five New Brunswick birders continue to be active, all of whom added at least two species to their provincial total. Newfoundland's Doug Phelan added 10 species in his home province and continues to lead there. There have been no changes to the gang of birders who have seen over 300 species in two or more provinces, but Blake Maybank is poised to add Ontario to his 'over-300' group.

Five birders have made the cutoff threshold in 10 or more provinces / territories (Roger Foxall and Blake Maybank in 10; Alex Gray and Wayne Neily in 11). By re-crossing the NS threshold, Eric Tull once again has made the threshold in 12 jurisdictions. The year 2000 was a slow one for birders wanting to improve their existing threshold-breaking provincial lists. The biggest increases over last year were 10 (Blake Maybank in ON) and 14 (Bryan Gates in AB and Michel Chiasson in NB).

For the first time in a long time, there was no increase in the top reported Canadian list, so the late Norm Chesterfield's all-time record of 520 remains unmatched. I did not hear from Mike Austin this year, but Montreal's Peter Landry improved his ABA total to 730. Although he just missed the 7000 species mark in 2000, Martin Edwards continues to be the dominant Canadian world birder. Rumour has it that Martin had something to celebrate in early January 2001 though!

Thanks to my move to Ontario, I posted the biggest increase (+27) in a Canadian life list in 2000 but Rick Toochn's +25 was more impressive when you consider that he was already at 439 for Canada a year ago. Andrew Slater added 44 new species to his ABA list thanks to a trip to the Rio Grande in February. By adding 205 world birds to his life list, Dick Cannings was surpassed only by Martin Bowman who added 633. The best ATPAT increases were from John Luce (124), myself (156) and Brooke Clibbon (179). Eric and Blake still manage to improve the top ATPAT lists every year.

Now with 25 respondents, interest in world family listing continues to grow. It is always a little frustrating to 'lose' species or families from life lists because taxonomists and modern scientific techniques dictate that a 'lump' or 'split' is in order. Unfortunately, Martin Edwards' now needs one more family of birds to reclaim his 100% life list of families, at least as far as James Clements is concerned. Missing from Martin's list is Bornean Bristlehead (Pityriasis gymnocephala), which is the only species in the family Pityriaseidae. This passerine can only be found in Borneo or Brunei.

YEAR LISTS

Year lists given here are a birder's best ever year list as well as their 2000 year list. Year list cutoff thresholds were 30% of the provincial/territorial list for PEI, Newfoundland and the territories, 40% for the other provinces and 80% of the life list cutoff for Canada, ATPAT, ABA area and the world. Thresholds are shown after an area's total list. Seventy-nine birders made the cutoffs for one or more year lists, which is four more than last year. Canada (44), Ontario (37) and British Columbia (27) were the most popularly reported areas.

None of the long-standing big provincial year list records were exceeded in 2000, but there were some good totals reported. Eric MacBean had 266 in BC, Joan McDonald reported 244 in AB, Rudolf Koes listed 282 in MB, Paul MacKenzie ticked 300 in ON, Murray Newell recorded 268 in NS and Doug Phelan found 203 in NF. Michael Bentley's 442 is still the all-time Canadian year list record and John Luce's 342 species was the best Canadian list of 2000.

In 2000 Hilaire Chiasson traveled throughout North America in his attempt at an ABA big year. His year started off with 179 species in Florida's Dry Tortugas. The next 39 species came from around home at Lamèque, NB. In May, it was off to Point Pelee for 50 more species and then back home to add 18 more. The Rio Grande in August yielded species #386 for the year and then it was on to south-east Arizona for September and another 29 species. Hilaire then visited southern California where he added 32 new species and then headed back to New Brunswick for seven more. A trip to the Vancouver area brought him up to #476. The last of Hilaire's final four species for the year was a Three-toed Woodpecker at Bouctouche, NB on 30 December. Hilaire ended up with 480 species, and I am sure he had a great time doing it.

DAY LISTS

As with year lists, a birder's best ever day list and their best day list for 2000 are both reported. To be published, day lists had to make thresholds of 20% for PEI, Newfoundland and the territories and 30% for the other provinces. Thresholds are shown after an area's total list. Fifty-three day lists are reported here from 32 birders, which is unchanged from last year.

Robert Tymstra has now reported Canada's first ever threshold breaking big day list in Nunavut. Other than that, no new all-time best days were established. The biggest days of 2000 were from Dick Cannings (163 in BC), Rudolf Koes (191 in MB) and Bruce Brydon (175 in ON), which was only 11 species shy of Alan Wormington's existing record.

***** WINTER LISTS *****

Winter lists cover the period from 1 December to 28 (29) February. Winter life lists - the birds seen during those months in any year - are reported as of the end of 2000. Single winter lists are of species seen during one winter. Listed are a birder's best ever single winter list and their list for the winter of 1999/2000. The thresholds for winter life lists are 25% for Canada, British Columbia and Ontario, 15% for PEI, Newfoundland and the territories and 20% for the other provinces. Thresholds for single winter lists were 5% less. Thresholds are shown after each category in all jurisdictions. Fifty-five birders submitted winter lists (up by two) that met or exceeded these thresholds. Again, the top winter life lists are from Ontario, British Columbia and Nova Scotia, which all improved a bit. Relatively mild winters on the prairies continue and Joan McDonald benefited most by this trend by adding seven new winter species in Alberta. Inching ever so slowly to the 300 species mark, Jo Ann MacKenzie added another to her Canadian winter life list, which is now at 286. Joan and Malcolm McDonald's single winter record in Alberta was short lived as Joan sailed by their 97/98 total of 93, to finish with 109 for 99/00. For the second year in a row, David Milsom had a good winter of birding on Ontario and this past winter he was only four short of his 98/99 record of 157. Thanks to Hilaire Chiasson and Murray Newell there are new single winter highs in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, respectively.

INTERPROVINCIAL LISTS

Interprovincial lists are those covering all or large parts of two or more provinces or territories. The lists included here are merged lists of the species seen in the area, rather than lists formed by adding provincial lists together. Blake Maybank ticked one new species in Atlantic Canada to reach 387, but there was little movement within the top Prairie Provinces lists. In 2000 Theo Hofmann improved his northern Canada total by 42 species.

Overall this year, 1548 lists have passed thresholds, which is up 57 from last year. These lists are from 117 birders -- an average of 13.2 lists per birder. Eleven listers had more than twice the average number of lists that passed their respective thresholds: Angus MacLean 30; Rudolf Koes and Hue MacKenzie 31; David Stirling 32; Jo Ann MacKenzie 34; Robert Parsons 38; Eric Tull 44 and Alex Gray 47; Wayne Neily 48; Burke Korol 59 and Blake Maybank 105. As always, I encourage birders to submit totals for other threshold breaking lists not already on the data form.

Please ensure next year's registration forms are posted before 31 January and if you have e-mail, please send that address too. Until next year.....Good birding.
